

Corporate Social Responsibility

Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) is:

- A commitment beyond that required by the law and economics, for a firm to pursue long-term goals that are good for society
- The continuing commitment by a business to behave ethically and contribute to economic development.

At the same time improving the quality of life of the workforce and their families as well as that of local communities and society at large

- About how a company manages its business process to produce an overall positive impact on society

Working with Digital Pipeline will help your company or organisation meet its Corporate Social Responsibility goals.

Planet and Environment

Donating your IT equipment can significantly reduce your carbon footprint as the reuse of each computer halves its environmental impact. We can provide you with feedback and a certificate detailing the environmental benefits of your donation as well as highlighting the other environmental benefits of donating for reuse.

Community Benefit

Donating IT to us benefits some of the most disadvantaged young people in the world; it contributes to a dramatic improvement in their education and life chances. An IT educated student in Africa has better employment opportunities after graduation, meaning higher wages and the chance to bring more people out of poverty, all thanks to your old equipment. When you donate, details of the community that have benefited from your donation, including photographs and messages from the beneficiaries, can be available to share with your stakeholders. It gives employees and businesses in the UK a chance to contribute to a genuine
